BUTTERFLIES CHILDCARE
& EARLY LEARNING CENTRE

Newsletter

ABOUT US

Butterflies Childcare & Early Learning Centre is a small, family owned organisation comprising of two early childhood education & care services in the northern suburbs of Melbourne. The company directors; a husband and wife team along with their four children, dreamt of opening their own childcare & kindergarten where they could ensure high quality education and care in a setting that feels like a 'second home' to families and their children.

Our first service; Butterflies Childcare & ELC Orchard Road opened in November 2011 and has been providing high quality education and care to families from the Doreen, Mernda, Yarrambat, Whittlesea and Diamond Creek areas.

After 10 years of operation and the opportunity to expand, Butterflies Childcare & ELC Mulwala Drive opened its doors in January 2021. The Mulwala Drive service is owned and run by the same family and some of our wonderful and experienced educators have moved over from Orchard Road to ensure consistency for children and families and to ensure the organisation's philosophy is upheld and implemented.

Acknowledgement of Country

Butterflies Childcare & Early Learning Centre was formed on the lands of the Wurundjeri People of the Kulin Nation.

We acknowledge Aboriginal & Torres Strait Islander Peoples as the Traditional Custodians of this country and their connection to the land, water and community in which we operate.

We pay our respect to them, their cultures and customs and to Elders both past and present.

Welcome

A very big welcome to the families that have joined us in late 2022/early 2023! We have enjoyed welcoming you to our service and getting to know you and your child.

Our quarterly newsletter will cover a range of topics such as room educators, changes to procedures, upcoming centre events and other important information.

We welcome your feedback and ask that you submit any enquiries to info@butterflies-childcare.com.au

Bumblebees

Settling in...

The Bumblebee children have settled into their room well and are enjoying getting to know their peers and educators.

Veda and Dawn are the two permanent educators in the babies room and work on opposite shifts each day. This means there is always a familiar face in the room for the babies when they arrive in the morning, and a familiar face when they are collected of an afternoon or evening.

The importance of play:

Play is central to your child's learning and development. When your child plays, it gives them many different ways and times to learn.

Play also helps your child:

- build confidence
- feel loved, happy and safe
- understand more about how the world works
- develop social skills, language and communication
- learn about caring for others and the environment
- develop physical skills.

As the babies grow, Dawn and Veda will develop the program to suit their needs and interests.

Newborns and babies: play ideas to encourage development

Just looking at your face and hearing your voice is play for your baby, especially if you're smiling.

You might like to try the following play ideas and activities with your little one:

- Music, songs or bells develop hearing and movement. You could try gentle tapping on your baby's tummy while you sing.
- Peekaboo is great for your baby's social and emotional development.
- Gentle tickles or objects with different textures develop the sense of touch. You and your baby could experiment with things like feathers, mud, metal or foam.
- Objects of different sizes, colours and shapes can encourage your child to reach and grasp.
- Sturdy furniture, balls, toys or boxes can get your child crawling, standing and walking.

Raising Children Network

Follow our evidence-based safe sleeping steps to reduce your risk:

Sleep your baby on their back: not on their tummy or side.
Keep your baby's head and face uncovered. Covering a baby's face or head with clothing such as a hat increases the risk of sudden infant death
Keep your baby smoke free before and after birth. Help to quit smoking is available from your doctor, midwife or by contacting Quitline
Have a safe sleeping environment night and day: Make sure the mattress is firm, clean and flat, in a safe cot that meets industry standards. Make sure there are no blankets, toys, pillows, or bumpers in the cot.
Sleep your baby in your room: The safest place to sleep your baby for the first 12 months is in a safe cot next to your bed.
Breastfeed your baby where possible.

Don't forget:

Please pack me suitable clothes as the weather changes. As we head into cooler weather, please pack me a beanie and a nice warm jumper or jacket so we can still enjoys the outdoor play space.

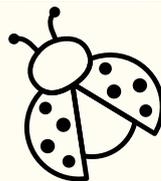

Ladybugs

Our little Ladybugs are really enjoying their time, exploring their new room and getting to know their educators. They have so much to explore - from the resources, to the outdoor area with a BIG sandpit, a cubby house and also a bunny rabbit named Raffy!

At meal times, some of us sit at the table on chairs, and some of us enjoy our meals in the highchairs. We have also transitioned from sleeping in cots, to sleeping on mattresses on the floor. We are adjusting to these changes so well and we are feeling very comfortable.

We love having the opportunity to play indoors and outdoors when the weather permits. We have trikes, cozy coupes, sandpit toys, painting easels, picnic rugs and much more to explore.

Ladybugs Educators

Narges, Nita & Sudarshi

Don't forget...

If you can spare a minute, please leave a comment on our daily Storypark posts (Daily Learning Journey) to let us know if you're enjoying the posts, if your child is talking about the activities at home and any other feedback you have for us.

We love to incorporate family life into our program. Let us know what you have been enjoying as a family and we can add it to our program to extend your child's learning.

Equally, if there is something your child is not enjoying at home (for example bath time) let us know. We can incorporate this into the program and set up an activity like bathing baby dolls to make it a positive experience and open up conversation about bath time and why it's so important.

Toddlers: play ideas to encourage development

Here are some ideas your toddler might enjoy:

- Large and light things like cardboard boxes, buckets or blow-up balls can encourage your child to run, build, push or drag.
- Chalk, rope, music or containers can encourage jumping, kicking, stomping, stepping and running.
- Hoops, boxes, large rocks or pillows are good for climbing on, balancing, twisting, swaying or rolling.
- Dress-up games with scarves, hats and so on are good for imagination and creativity.
- Hills, tunnels or nooks can encourage physical activities like crawling, climbing and exploring.

If you put on some favourite music while your toddler plays, they can also try out different sounds and rhythms. You might also like to sing, dance and clap along to music with your child.

Positive attention and warm interactions with your child

What is positive attention?

Positive attention is the way you show delight in your child and warmth in your relationship through:

- smiling at your child
- making eye contact and using caring facial expressions
- showing physical affection - for example, hugging your child
- using words to celebrate and encourage your child
- showing interest in your child's interests, activities and achievements.

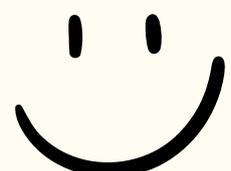

Why positive attention is important

From birth, children need experiences and relationships that show them they're valued, capable human beings who bring pleasure to others. Positive attention, reactions and responses from key grown-ups help children build a picture of how valued they are.

Your child's self-image builds up over time with positive, loving messages from you and other important people in your child's life. A healthy self-image is very important, not only for your child's relationship with others, but also for your child's confidence as they learn about the world.

Your child's feelings of security and safety come from responsive interactions with you and other carers. If you smile at your child when they look towards you, or reassure your child when they're frightened or uncertain, your child will feel safe and secure. This gives your child confidence as they explore their world.

Witchetty Grubs

Witchetty Grubs Educators

Chloe, Mihiri, Reetu, Kanta & Roshani

The Witchetty Grubs children have been having lots of fun in their new room, with their wonderful educators.

They are very familiar with this room, as they had the opportunity to spend time in there and out in the yard whilst they were in Ladybugs. The children have settled in very well and enjoy a mixture of indoor and outdoor play throughout the day.

Educators in the Witchetty Grubs room work a variety of shifts so that there is always someone familiar to the children and families in the mornings at drop off, and again in the evenings.

REMINDER: If you can spare a minute, please leave a comment on our daily Storypark posts (Daily Learning Journey) to let us know if you're enjoying the posts, if your child is talking about the activities at home and any other feedback you have for us.

REMINDER:

This age group have their bags down at the children's level, so we would like to remind families to check their child's bag in the morning prior to drop off, to ensure there are no food items, medications or any other hazardous items.

We also ask that you label hats, clothing (where possible), dummies, bottles etc.

Things not to pack in my childcare bag:

- Medication
- Food
- Drinks
- Bottles with liquid in them
- Toys from home (unless it's a comfort item)

When children ask for things: how to respond constructively

When children ask for something, try to pause and listen. This shows that you're thinking about it before you answer.

If you have to say no, try to explain why. Always give a reason for refusing. Your responses teach children about communication, respect and compromise.

"When your child asks for something, it's an opportunity to help them learn about communicating well and managing expectations and emotions - no matter what answer you plan to give."

3 Year Old KINDERGARTEN

Our 3 Year Old Kindergarten group (Caterpillars & Dragonflies) have settled into the new year well. Children have had a wonderful time exploring the new room and resources and having the opportunity to go between the two! We have had some questions about how the 3YO Kinder operates and the difference in the two groups.

Caterpillars and Dragonflies are the names of the 2 kindergarten rooms, however, the two groups run their day together. Priya is the 3 Year Old Kindergarten Teacher (ECT) who develops the program for the whole group. Sharni, Alex and Penni support Priya as assistant educators and deliver the program together, for all children. Children mix throughout the day - often choosing between playing indoors or outdoors and still spend majority of the day together.

Kinder Kits

If your child is enrolled in our 3 Year Old Kindergarten program and you have signed the funding forms to allow us to claim funding, your child should have received a "Kinder Kit".

If you are claiming funding through another Kindergarten, your child will receive this kit through them. Please contact us if your child is only attending Butterflies 3YO kindergarten and has not yet received a kit.

SETTLING IN...

Starting at a Kindergarten can feel overwhelming and maybe even a bit scary for some children.

Parents are often very excited and talk about "Kinder" lots when their child is due to start and although we are excited, our children can have big emotions about the changes and expectations that lie ahead.

What is so wonderful about Butterflies, is that 3 Year Old Kindergarten (although still a very exciting big deal to us) is still play based and the routine is flexible - allowing children to take part in all of the activities and experiences they love and are used to.

The program is still developed with the children's interests at the forefront and with a substantial amount of parent input.

While the routine is flexible, there is still an element of structure to the day to ensure children are getting the most out of their time here with us, which falls around meal and rest times.

Change to a child's regular routine

It is very normal for 3 & 4 year olds to be unsure of new things. This includes change to routines, changes to life at home (welcoming a sibling or a parent in hospital), illness or a death of a loved one.

Routines are good for children and families in many ways. They help family life run smoothly. They help children feel safe, develop skills and build healthy habits. And they help parents feel organised, manage stress and find time for enjoyable activities.

Explain routines to your child. Even toddlers can understand simple, consistent explanations. For example, 'First clean teeth. Then story time with Dad'.

Talk with children about why routines are important. For example, 'We have dinner early on Thursdays so we can get you to gymnastics class on time'.

TODDLERS AND YOUNG CHILDREN

CHALLENGING BEHAVIOURS

Young children experience a range of emotions and express themselves in many different ways. It's normal for toddlers and young children to have tantrums and break rules while their social and emotional skills are developing. It's important that you and other caregivers provide support while your child is developing and learning to manage their own emotions. Guiding your child and encouraging positive behaviours will help them learn appropriate ways to behave.

Different families will have different expectations about what is acceptable and what is considered difficult behaviour. Some behaviours that families commonly find challenging include:

- o defiance (e.g. refusing to follow your requests)
- o fussiness (e.g. refusal to eat certain foods or wear certain clothes)
- o hurting other people (e.g. biting, kicking)
- o excessive anger when the child doesn't get their own way
- o tantrums.

What causes CHALLENGING BEHAVIOURS?

Challenging behaviour is sometimes due to children of this age not having the social and emotional skills yet. Often when a child displays challenging behaviour, it is a response to feeling anxious, angry or overwhelmed and they are struggling with processing their feelings.

Children need attention from their parents and carers to feel secure and thrive emotionally. Children may show challenging behaviours in an attempt to gain attention and responses from adults – for some children, even negative attention is preferable to no attention at all.

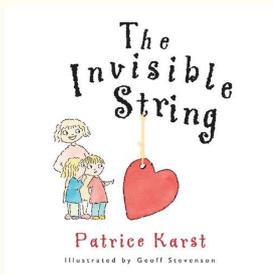

There are a number of other things that might affect your child's ability to control their reactions, emotions or behaviours, including:

- being unwell
- not enough sleep or being tired
- too much screen time
- poor diet or feeling hungry
- a change in family circumstances or routine.

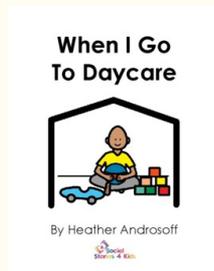

Sometimes, ongoing challenging behaviour can indicate other health issues or an underlying developmental, social or emotional problem. It is also important to consider a child's current situation or environment and how it may be affecting them. If you are concerned about your child, see your GP.

There are some wonderful resources out there which can support your conversations with your child. Here are some examples:

Books about separating from parents/guardians

Social stories

Settling in to childcare & kindergarten

The beginning of a new year is very exciting, but it can also be unsettling for some.

Children have moved into new rooms, welcomed new peers/friends and have new educators. These are big changes for little minds and children need extra care and support in childcare/kindergarten as well as at home.

It can be helpful to talk to children about how they are feeling, what emotions they are experiencing and how we can better support them. Some children benefit from visual aides, such as a weekly planner or calendar, social stories and/or books which talk about coming to childcare.

SETTLING IN TO 4 YEAR OLD KINDER

BUTTERFLIES KINDERGARTEN

The 4 Year Old Kindergarten children (our Butterflies) have settled into the new year beautifully. Children are settled and happy and building their relationships with their peers.

We hope you are enjoying seeing what we are up to each day, as we post photos and videos on the Storypark app!

Kindergarten is an important step for young children. Research shows that kindergarten improves children's health and wellbeing, helps them to develop strong social skills and encourages a love of learning. Children who go to a kindergarten program are more independent and confident and are more likely to make a smooth transition to primary school the following year.

PLAY BASED LEARNING

Play is central to your child's learning and development. When your child plays, it gives them many different ways and times to learn.

Play also helps your child:

- build confidence
- feel loved, happy and safe
- understand more about how the world works
- develop social skills, language and communication
- learn about caring for others and the environment
- develop physical skills.

INCURSIONS & EXCURSIONS

AT KINDER

Throughout the year, we host a range of incursions and excursions for our 4 year old kindergarten children.

This includes Little Sports Heroes, the Responsible Pet Education Program, Dental hygiene (dentist) visit, Lunchbox Week, Chicken Hatching program and many more!

Take a look at our yearly calendar of events to see what we have planned!

Preschoolers: play ideas to encourage development

Here are some ideas to get your preschooler's mind and body going:

- Old milk containers, wooden spoons, empty pot plant containers, sticks, scrunched-up paper, plastic buckets, saucepans and old clothes are great for imaginative, unstructured play.
 - Simple jigsaw puzzles and matching games like animal dominoes can improve your child's memory and concentration.
 - Playdough and clay help your child develop fine motor skills.
 - Favourite music or pots and pans are great for dancing or making music.
 - Balls can encourage kicking, throwing or rolling.
- When you're encouraging your child to kick or throw, see whether you can get them to use one side of their body and then the other.

Support for children and families with developmental concerns

In the early years of our children's lives the brain develops at an incredibly fast rate. The way the brain develops is a combination of the experiences and interactions that children have as well as genetic factors which can intertwine.

The earlier childhood interventions start the greater the chance to make the biggest changes. While the focus area for each child may be different, in general early childhood support is based around improving children's social, emotional, cognitive and physical attributes.

The science of early development is clear; highlighting the importance of the first 5 years of life for well-being and health.

If you have any concerns about your child's development, you should contact your doctor, child health nurse, health service, paediatrician or early childhood educator.

We have put together a list of providers who may be able to assist if you are seeking a therapist for your child.

Storypark
WE USE STORYPARK

We use Storypark for all of our learning and documentation and planning.

StoryPark allows and improves communication between educators and families especially when communicating about your child's development.

This is a two way means of communication which means you will be able to comment and respond to learning observations posted by your child's Educators.

Storypark allows us to send families daily updates throughout the week to let you know what activities and experiences the children have been involved in. This includes photos and videos!

You can even invite extended family to join your child's learning journey.

Please ensure you download the Storypark app to your smartphone.

All costs are covered by Butterflies Childcare so that Storypark is FREE for families.

Close the Gap Day

“Strong Culture, Strong Youth: Our Legacy, Our Future”

Our aim is to bring people together to share information, and most importantly, to take meaningful action in support of achieving health equality for First Nations Peoples by 2032.

World Wildlife Day

WWD is a United Nations International day to celebrate all the world's wild animals and plants and the contribution that they make to our lives and the health of the planet.

Holi

According to the Hindu calendar, Holi is celebrated every year on the full moon date of Falgun month. In the year 2023, Holi, the festival of colours, falls on 8 March 2023.

International Women's Day

This is a global day celebrating the social, economic, cultural, and political achievements of women. The day also marks a call to action for accelerating women's equality.

Labour Day Public Holiday

Monday 13th of March is a public holiday which means Butterflies will be CLOSED. We will reopen on Tuesday 14th of March.

World Down Syndrome Day

World Down Syndrome Day (WSD) , 21 March, is a global awareness day which has been officially observed by the United Nations since 2012. The date for WSD being the 21st day of the 3rd month, was selected to signify the uniqueness of the triplication (trisomy) of the 21st chromosome which causes Down syndrome.

World's Greatest Shave (Crazy hair day)

In 2023, the Leukaemia Foundation's World's Greatest Shave will celebrate 25 years – making it one of Australia's longest running and most iconic fundraising events.

We will be colouring children's hair and doing some crazy hair styles to celebrate! You can donate to our team if you would like to.

International Nowruz Day

International Day of Nowruz celebrated every March 21 is a highly significant and anticipated global New Year holiday occurring on the spring equinox, ringing in the arrival of spring and symbolizing rebirth and renewal of nature.

St Patrick's Day

The day commemorates Saint Patrick and the arrival of Christianity in Ireland, and celebrates the heritage and culture of the Irish in general. Celebrations generally involve public parades and festivals, céilithe, and the wearing of green attire or shamrocks

Harmony Week

Harmony Week is the celebration that recognises our diversity and brings together Australians from all different backgrounds.

It's about inclusiveness, respect and a sense of belonging for everyone.

To participate, you can wear orange to show your support, or you can attend/host a Harmony Week event.

LOCAL BUSINESS

Support your community by shopping and dining local, connecting with small businesses and reaching out to organisations that support people in the community.

Design Excavation and Landscaping

This local business is your go to for all things landscaping! Rob from Design Excavation and Landscaping has helped many local families turn the landscape of their dreams into reality.
